See J. Reiter's new stock of cloths.
The city council meets next Monday night.

Weather strips for door and windows at Chapman's.
The break lately made by the prisoners in the county jail has been repaired.

A new culvert has been placed on Graham avenue and First street.

Arthur Ball gave another of his exhibitions of fancy skating at the rink last evening.

The double track and the half hour dummy trains promised long ago, do not appear yet.

The genial Four dance on the 26th promises to be a happy one, and largely attended.

The Y. M. C. A. held a social last evening in place of the regular literary entertainment.

To-morrow evening the police force and their friends trip the light fantastic in Masonic hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Taylor are preparing to celebrate their tin wedding next Monday evening.

The first snow of the season fell Monday night. There was only enough of it though to be called snow.

Persons desiring fine portraits for the holidays, should place their orders with Stuart, the artist, in advance.

Mattie Vickers, supported by Chas. S. Rogers, appears at the opera house to-morrow evening in "Jacqueline."

The city building needs a vault, the safes not being sufficiently strong for the keeping of the records and papers.

John Nicholson has disposed of his business on lower Broadway, and will soon open a restaurant for the up town.

What is to be done with the crumbling court house? Will the city council order it boarded up and forsaken?

It is proposed to string ten electric lights on Broadway and Main streets the night of the coming democratic jubilee.

The funeral of Edward Murphy will take place at the residence, No. 927 North Tenth street, at 9 o'clock this morning.

B. R. Ball has retired from the Sinner sewing machine agency, and now joins with Mr. Frank Cook in the real estate business.

Cards are out for the marriage of D. C. Tucker to Clara E. Miller, at the residence of Mrs. E. W. Miller, on North Eighth street Thanksgiving day.

"Sport" Miller was complaining at police headquarters that his son Frank was creating a commotion at home, and tried to knock the old man down.

Box 7, of the fire alarm, has been put in place of box 18, corner of Seventh street and Washington avenue, and No. 18 is placed in the C. & Q. tower.

An attempt is to be made to get the street railway company to extend its track clear up Broadway. Some decent cars are needed much worse than more track.

It is Officer Dunn's son who is recovering from a severe illness, instead of Officer Dennison. The evening papers which copied THE BEE's item will please correct.

There does not seem to be much of any business at the city weighmaster's office, notwithstanding the attempt of the council to force teams to stand near there instead of on Main street.

Something ought to be done to Bay-liss park to prevent its becoming a frog pond next spring. The streets all about the park have been filled up, leaving the park much below grade.

The young people of Broadway Methodist church have organized what is known as the M. L. S. C. and propose giving a series of entertainments this winter, the first of which will be in Masonic hall Thanksgiving night.

D. Bolts, colored, was brought before Justice Vaughan yesterday on a charge of assaulting Peter Green, also colored, with a club, on the last day of last month. The case was continued to December 5. Bolts giving $300 bond.

The sidewalks on Tenth avenue, between Third and Fourth streets, are in a very bad condition, and in front of a vacant lot is very dangerous on that block. Several persons already have been hurt by falling in a big hole at this place.

Several have inquired why the curbing at the new government building is nearly six inches lower than along adjacent property. The reason is that flagging is to be used for a sidewalk, six inches thick, running right over the curbing, which will bring the walk up to grade.

Mr. W. W. A. Smith, the private secretary of Mayor Vaughan has lately been placed on the pay roll of the fire department at $65 a month, and assigned to 1's house. This makes three more paid men than the department held when Chief Templeton was at the head of the force.

A novel case came up before Justice Schurz to-day. C. E. Anderson complains that he paid H. E. Palmer $15, the latter agreeing to deliver a certain quantity of coal. Anderson says he never received the coal, and has not been able to get the money back.

Judge Aylesworth yesterday received a telegram asking him to join in a democratic jollification at Carroll this evening. Judge Aylesworth's duties here compelled him to decline. Besides, two votes is not much of a majority for him to enthuse over.

Mrs. Heister Richardson, who died in Omaha Monday night, at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Cox, is to be brought to this city to-morrow for burial, her father and mother being buried here, and her step-mother, Mrs. Richardson, living here at the corner of Damon and Clinton street.

Some of the saloonists at the beginning of the present quarter made a kick about paying a license. They at first offered to pay by the month, but the mayor notified them they must pay up three months at a time or else shut up. They are now coming in pretty well with the cash.

Mrs. J. A. Spoor died at her residence, No. 1518 Tenth avenue, yesterday morning. The event was not unexpected, she having had a surgical operation performed several days ago, a tumor being removed. Since which time she has sunk rapidly. Mrs. Spoor was widely known in this city, where she has lived for years. The funeral services will be held this afternoon from the residence.

The case of Luke Crowley vs. the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company, has been tried in the United States court in Des Moines, and a verdict given of $6,500 in Crowley's favor. Crowley was a brakeman on a stock train, in September, 1883, and just east of Neola the train ran into a bull, was thrown from the track, and Crowley received injuries which disables him for life.

Judd & Smith, the electric belt manufacturers, are starting two new offices, one at Dallas, Texas, which will be managed by W. L. Ellison, of Nebraska City. The other is at Fort Wayne, which will be managed by S. T. Smith, one of the firm, Virgil Bergen, of this city, will go to Fort Wayne to be in the office there. Mr. Smith, it is said, is to take a new partner on the 26th of this month, the fair one being one of the favorite young ladies of Sheboygan, Mich., Miss Cassie Cornors.

The democrats are preparing for a grand hurrah, parade, jollification, ratification, celebration, etc., on Wednesday evening of next week. A committee was going the rounds yesterday securing subscriptions, the intention being to secure at least $1,500. As the jollification is to be so extensive as to bring in a large number from the surrounding country, it will be a grand occasion for Council Bluffs, and as a matter of city enterprise many republicans will gladly help make it a success as results now cannot be affected by said demonstrations.

A barber remarked to one of the BEE force yesterday that Council Bluffs barbers could not agree upon closing their places of business on Sunday, but at a meeting of the knights of the razor they had agreed to raise the price of shaving to all republicans. At the request of Mr. BEE man the barber explained that the republicans usually had such awfully long faces, just about now, you know. The price for shaving democrats has also been raised because so many of them wore they would never shave again until a democratic president was elected, and they have had to wait a long time.

Yesterday afternoon a marriage occurred at the old Baldwin homestead which of more than passing interest to the social circles of this city, the bride being Miss Susan Baldwin, sister of John N. Baldwin, a young lady who has lived here since childhood. The man so fortunate as to win so worthy a bride was Mr. Jason Walker, of Madison, Ky., who has an excellent business and social standing. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Mackey, of St. Paul's Episcopal church, and in the presence of a goodly number of friends. The newly wedded ones left on the morning train for Chicago. The congratulations and well-wishes of many here follow them.

Exclude rain, dust and cold from your house by the use of the wood and rubber weather strips, for sale by W. W. Chapman.

The finest mirrors in the city, now and novel, at Chapman's.

ROUGH ON REAGAN.

Returning Home He Finds His House in Flames.

J. C. Reagan, the paving contractor, left Saturday for his home in Earlham. On arriving there he found the house in flames, and speedily being reduced to ashes. Mrs. Reagan a day or two before had given birth to twins, and was confined to her bed when the fire was discovered in the upper portion of the house. For a woman in her condition she showed a presence of mind, and began giving directions as to the removal of furniture and the gathering up of her jewelry. She sent for a stalwart Swede, employed in the quarry, and having blankets wrapped about herself, the muscular man lifted her up as a child, and carried her to his home near by, while the nurse took the twin babies. When Mr. Reagan arrived the house was nearly gone, but most of the furniture was saved. The building was partly covered by insurance. Mr. Reagan's home at Earlham being thus broken up, his friends are now urging him to move his family here, and there is some possible prospect of his deciding to do so and make Council Bluffs his permanent home.

Wrought Iron Ranges at reduced prices, De Vol & Wright, 504 Broadway.

PICKED A DAISY.

A Pierce Street Siren Locked up for Robbing a Mamed Man of a Watch.

Yesterday morning there was in the police court examination into the charge of robbery made against Daisy Duprez, of "rather raw" notoriety. The prosecuting witness was a man named A. Sifers, who claimed that he was passing by Daisy's house, on his way home, when she called to him to come in, as the house was full of smoke, and she thought it was on fire, or else there was something wrong with the stove. On entering the house, she snatched his watch and chain, and he then caught her arrest. The watch was found on her. He swore that he had seen the woman before that had had no conversation with her. She testified, on the other hand, that they had been acquainted for a year, and he had been very intimate with her and was owing her about $150. He gave her the watch to keep until he could get the money to pay her. Sifers had his own wife present to testify to the identity of the watch, which was not in dispute. The details of the examination were disgusting, and it was said that a man who had any respect for his wife would have almost have rather let the old watch go, than to have her subject to the hearing of such filthy testimony. The court decided to hold Daisy to await the action of the grand jury, which meets December 8th. The bonds were fixed at $3,000, and being unable to give these she was sent to jail. Pierce street will probably be more quiet while she is away as she has been "a holy terror" in that neighborhood.

It will pay you to see our line of stoves before you buy. DR. VOL & WRIGHT, 504 Broadway.
